RAVE REVIEWS FROM EDINBURGH!

The list, a publication on what's hot and what's not at the Edinburgh Festival, put MADAME MAO'S MEMOIRS on its list of Top Five Must-Sees.

In the same vein, the play was the critics' choice for THE INDEPENDENT, SCOTLAND on SUNDAY, and the EVENING NEWS.

"...an impressive and memorable piece of theatre...
 The spirit of Jiang Qing is brilliantly and terrifyingly evoked..."
 Miranda France, The List

"...Claire Wong gives a rich performance...there is a twisted logic in her [Jiang Qing's] decline, and Wong's performance shows us what is sad about it as well as what is shocking..."
 Benedict Nightingale, The Times

"Metamorphosing from poisonous crane to star struck ingenue, Claire Wong vividly embodies Jiang Qing...Henry Ong's script is well-constructed and Wong serves it beautifully..."
 Nick Curtis, The Independent

"...a praiseworthy piece of theatre...Claire Wong gives a deeply committed performance, with extraordinary expressiveness..."
 Catherine Lockhart, The Scotsman

"...Claire Wong gives a remarkable performance... a compelling portrayal, ably directed and paced by Kong Sen Ong..."
 Carol Woddis, The Herald

"...Claire Wong is a splendid actress..."
 Julie Morris, Scotland on Sunday

"A fascinating one-woman show...Gripping stuff...well worth seeing..."
 Critics' Choice, Evening News
