PIAF

On 14 October 1963, Paris wept for Edith Piaf. 40,000 people jostled around the Père Lachaise cemetery. Her funeral was as crazy and theatrical as her life. No one would relinquish the memory of her passion — the crying voice from the heart that was uniquely Piaf's. This, is her unique story.

"PIAF" was first presented at The Other Place, Stratford-Upon-Avon, by the Royal Shakespeare Company on October 5, 1978. Subsequently, it also enjoyed resounding critical success for its transfer to London West-End, at the Picadilly Theatre in 1980. The play also conquered Broadway in January, 1981 with garlands of critical praise.

"PIAF" is TheatreWorks' 3rd Anniversary production, directed by its Artistic Director, Lim Siau Chong.
